DOCTOR WITHOUT LICENSE

CHARGES BEFORE POLICE COURT AGAINST CHALMERS PRENTICE.

Alleged That He Violated a Law of the District-Judge Reserves Decision.

Chalmers Prentice of 141 Binney street northwest was placed on trial before Judge Scott this morning on a charge, preferred by the board of medical supervisers of the District, of practicing medicine without a license. It was alleged that Dr. Prentice had been engaged in Washington during the past few months in treating various diseases through the application of different grades of glasses and spectacles to the eyes of his patients. It was held by Prosecuting Attorneys Mullowney and Gordon that Dr. Prentice was rendering medical service to persons in the District clearly within the prohibitive limits of the law. while Attorney Henry E. Davis, counsel for the defendant, held that there was no law under which his client could be held. Judge Scott Reserved Decision in the Case. H. C. Sargent took the stand and testified that he had been treated by Dr. Prentice for deficient eyesight. Witness stated that he had suffered from headache and nervousness, and that under Dr. Prentice's treatment, directed solely at the eyes, he had been considerably relieved. Mrs. H. C. Sargent said that while in bad health generally, she had talked with the defendant and that he had suggested, after questioning her concerning the condition of her eyes, that she should wear a pair of glasses prescribed by him. Dr. George H. Shoulters said he knew that Dr. Prentice claimed to be a doctor.

"According to my understanding," he declared, "the defendant claims to relieve most nervous troubles of the human system by the application of eyeglasses. Of course, this includes a great many diseases and might embrace consumption or cancer. ministering drugs and never saw him prescribe any. He is the author of two different works on medicine to which he signs himself as 'M. D.' " Dr. Woodward's Statement.

Health Officer Woodward stated that he was acquainted with the defendant. Dr. Prentice, he testified, had come to him and talked informally about being admitted to practice in the District under authority of a license. "He claimed he had practiced in London," continued Dr. Woodward, "and also said he had been a practitioner in several states of this country. When questioned, however, he expressed his unwillingness to undergo an examination to prac He subsequently called upon the District Commissioners, but was not granted a license." Charles L. Pullman testified that he had met the defendant in London in 1892, when the former was treated by the latter for diabetes. This treatment, he said, had been rendered mainly through the agency of the eyes. Dr. Prentice had felt his pulse, witness stated, but had administered no drugs. Subsequently, Mr. Pullman said, he was treated here by the same method for nervousness. Caleb S. Miller said he had suffered from defective hearing, and that Dr. Prentice had treated him for that aliment by cutting a muscle of his eye with what looked to him like a pair of scissors. He had not paid any fee for this operation, however.

Anna M. Little said she knew Dr. Prentice and James H. Claggett reported to the court a conversation he had overheard at the Savoy flat between the defendant and a clerk, in which the former had explained

They contended that if the theories he should comply with the law, and take the examination required of all licensed physicians in the District. They held that cutting the muscles of the eye, as stated in the testimony, clearly constituted an operation in surgery, and that such an operation, if performed by the defendant, was done so in violation of the statute. E. Cap. sts., Rev. J. S. Dempster, pastor.—The holiness convention and revival will continue to-morrow with services at 11 a.m. and 3 and 8 p.m.; Rev. John Hatfield, from Illinois, in charge. Said to Have Occurred in Baltimore. Dr. G. DeWitt Showalter and Miss Catherine M. Mullaney of this city are reported to have been married in Baltimore late last night. The account of the marriage given by a Baltimore paper this morning postponed one week. says the doctor and his bride-elect registered at the St. James Hotel between 6 and 7 o'clock last night under assumed names. There were two ladies in the party, the entries on the register being made by the prospective groom as "Mr. G. DeWett, Wheeling, W. Va.; Miss Woodard, Wheeling, W. Va., and Miss Kent, Wheeling, W. Va." Shortly after being shown to their rooms, it is said, inquiries were made by the doctor as to where he could secure a marriage license. He was directed to see Clerk G. W. Wise of the common pleas court, and as it was too late to see him at his office the party proceeded to Mr. Wise's resi-dence. That gentleman had gone fishing, but word was left for him to come to the hotel immediately on his arrival. It was rather late when Mr. Wise made his appearance, but the license was secured and the party was driven to the residence of Cardinal Gibbons, where, it is stated, they were married by Rev. Father O'Brien, chancellor of the archdiocese. On returning to the hotel the party denied themselves to reporters.

A "holiness convention" is being held at St. Paul's Protestant Church, 4th and East Capitol streets, Rev. Joseph S. Dempster, pastor. In connection with the convention, revival services are in progress. It is said that at the ordination services Thursday night it was necessary to issue cards of admission as the space is limited. The congregation expects to have an edifice soon which will accommodate the increasing congregation, the purchase of a site and the erection of a building in the near future in the northeast section being in view. Thursday night a request for attendance on service is estimated to be about 200. The congregation maintains a Sunday school.

A Subject to Be Brought to the At

The newly formed Bankers' Association of the District, which will be organ-will soon take up for consideration a mat-should be made to Congress with the view situation relative to the disposition of the money paid by the people of the District for the support of the local government. At present every six months a large sum of money is withdrawn from circulation and placed in the United States treasury. The total revenue from this source each year is between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, and at each period of the semi-annual payment of taxes the banking institutions of the Dis-trict restrict their loans, as it is impossible fect on business operations is of course a matter of consequence. In order to prodepositories in this city where this money is to be deposited by the District collector of taxes. In that way the banking capital
